The 10-Question Readiness Check

For parents and students considering a flexible or accelerated homeschool path

> By [NAME]. I left in-person school in 3rd grade, graduated high school at 13 through FLVS Flex, earned my associate degree at 15 and my bachelor's at 17. This is not a test or a diagnosis. These are questions I wish my family had written down so we could talk it through together.
> Answer together. Circle one answer. There is no score that tells you what to do.

About the learner

1 Does the learner say they are bored, stuck, or rushing through things in their current setup?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

2 Can the learner explain what kind of learning works for them (face-to-face instructor, online instructor, reading alone, hands-on)?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

3 Is the learner willing to give honest feedback on what is and isn't working, and to try changes?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

4 When something is hard, does the learner keep going or burn out quickly? (Note what happens, not who is to blame.)
○ Keeps going ○ Depends ○ Burns out

About the family

5 Is at least one adult able to check in on progress regularly, even if they are not teaching?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

6 Are you open to changing the plan when something isn't working, instead of repeating how you were taught?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

7 Do you have a plan for social life (clubs, activities, community, friends), not just for academics?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

About pace and options

8 Do you know the options near you (virtual school, online instructors, in-person tutors, dual enrollment)?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

9 Can the learner slow down or take a break without feeling like they failed?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

10 Are you clear that finishing early is one possible outcome, not the goal for every child?
○ Yes ○ Not sure ○ No

General information from one person's experience. Not educational, psychological, medical or legal advice. Rules vary by state and district.

What your answers suggest

Not a diagnosis. A starting point for a conversation.

Mostly "Yes"

You have a good base. Next step: write down 3 things you want the learning experience to look like.

A mix of "Not sure"

That's normal. Pick two questions to talk about this week.

Several "No"

That tells you where to start, not whether to stop. Take it one step at a time.

One-page conversation guide

- Ask the learner: "What is one thing that works for you in how you learn? What is one thing that doesn't?"
- Write the answers down. Listen first.
- Change one thing.
- Check in again in two weeks.

Our answers

What works:

_____

What doesn't:

_____

The one thing we'll change:

_____

Check in again on:

_____

Remember

Homeschooling doesn't have to copy school. It can bend to the child, face to face with an instructor, online with one, or without lectures at all. Ask for feedback, listen, and adjust. Finishing early is one possible outcome, not the goal for every child.

Want help thinking it through? Book a 60-minute Acceleration Roadmap session: [BOOKING LINK] · Join the guide waitlist: [WAITLIST LINK]

Not educational, psychological, medical or legal advice. For concerns about learning differences, mental health or legal requirements, talk to a qualified professional.